ECommittee Special Announcement

Based on comments/feedback and the results of our recent committee membership survey, we are happy to announce that login to ECommittee will be easier. Effective March 2009, ECommittee will be added to our various online resources which includes NFPA.org, member access, necPlus, and code subscriptions, all using the same NFPA.org login. (If you don't currently have one, don't worry, we will be sending details as the time for the switch draws closer.)

We hope that this change will make your use of NFPA's online resources simple and efficient. In addition, you will be able to change and retrieve forgotten passwords in one location.
